About Japan Mini-LP CDs:

Japan mini-LP CDs are official audiophile releases--manufactured in Japan under license to the copyright holders--that play on all CD players. CDs made in Japan are superior in nearly every way to those from other countries. The Japanese packaging of classic albums in cardboard sleeve miniature is state of the art. These mini-LPs endeavor to be precise miniaturizations of the first pressings of the 12" LPs. Usually everything that was present in the original LP is included, such as gatefolds, booklets, lyric sheets, posters, printed CD sleeves, stickers, embosses, special paper or inks, and die cuts. In nearly all mini-LP releases a detail sheet is included, and although the text may be in Japanese, the insert will often include the lyrics in English, which is a big plus if the original LP did not include a lyric sheet. Japan promotional strips, also called "obi" or stickers are usually included with the package as a way of advertising the CD to the Japanese buying public and includes considerable information, such as release date, catalog number, and mastering. On occasion a mini-LP CD will have bonus tracks included that were not part of the original release. However, the notes about the bonus tracks are never added to the album artwork, only to the spine obi strip or the details and notes sheet, thus maintaining the integrity of the original LP artwork.
