Western Style Blue Bib-Front Custom Shirt Worn By Michael (1983)

Western style bib front shirt worn by Michael during a recording session for the song "Eaten Alive" with Diana Ross and Barry Gibb. Made for Michael by Western Costume Company.

From The Golden Closet/Gotta Have It:

The bright aqua blue shirt is made of a fine light wool with long sleeves, wide collar, and Indian-head buttons down each side of the bib and on the sleeve cuffs. Each shoulder has an epaulet made of black felt embellished with grey stitching, silver beads, and double silver horseshoes with rhinestones. There is some minor moth damage to the interior of the back collar, and some small stains to the front of the shirt. The shirt was custom tailored for Mr. Jackson by Western Costume Company and is complete with the original label sewn inside with the name "Michael Jackson" clearly typed. Presented by The Golden Closet, your premiere source for screen used wardrobe, props, and music entertainment memorabilia. Photos and descriptions are the sole property of The Golden Closet.

Offered by Gotta Have It (Lot #3) at their 3/11/10 Rock & Roll Pop Culture Auction. All screen captures are the property of their respective owners.
